ISSUE 82: Monday 7th November – Monday 14th November

You may have noticed that there has been a bit of a jump in the issue number from #32 last week to #82 this week. That's because the issue number is now referring to the total number of Billetins ever made rather than only the ones this year. The reforms just keep on rolling in don't they? We've already missed some classic milestones like #50 and #69, but get keen for #100 at some point next year. Potential celebrations include a 100 Trivia Questions special edition to keep you entertained for days on end. What a time to be alive!

WHAT'S ON IN CANBERRA

ART AFTER DARK

5-8pm on 11 November

The Canberra Glassworks is opening its doors after dark for you to come explore contemporary glass designs and see artists create new masterpieces in front of your eyes. If you love watching red hot (glass) blowing, this is the perfect evening for you.

11am on 11 November

The Australian War Memorial will be holding a ceremony for Remembrance Day. Take some time out of your study to remember all who fought in Australia's conflicts.

One of the most pondered questions in modern history is how Jess Holley and Isabelle Lee produce more energy than South Australia. The answer is here; eating lots of cookies. To harness the same enthusiasm for life that these two display, keep your eyes peeled for exam cookies baked every second(ish) day. If you're feeling pretty energetic already, why not lend them a hand with baking too? After all, the little red hen told her lazy friends to piss off when they wanted to eat the bread she baked, so who knows if these chick(en)s will do the same one day?

#MoralOfTheBilletin

P.S. No I didn't make this seal just for the Billetin.

I was a bit of a dad in high school too so some mates crafted it for a special occasion.

HOW TO TRUMP YOUR EXAMS

Earlier this week I heard a knock on my door and opened it to reveal a bedraggled Ben Rada Martin standing there, clearly under considerable strain. "Max, I don't think I can maintain my HD average this semester. What on earth am I going to do?" he exclaimed with a tremble in his voice. After several hours of brainstorming, we reached a conclusion involving a little bit of embezzlement, a return ticket to America, and the man at the forefront of the clown epidemic; Donald Trump himself. The next day we took a zero off the end of the CRC budget, flew to the USA, and interviewed Don the Con about how he used his intelligence to ace his exams, and become a contender for the most powerful job in the world (without any help from his inheritance). The eye opening results are below.

Q: Hi Don, how are you today?

A: I'm good. In fact, I am great. Just like America will be when I am elected President.

Q: We've heard that your exam results in university were fantastic. How did you manage to pull this off?

A: My IQ is one of the highest – and you all know it! Please don't feel so stupid or insecure; it's not your fault.

Q: Thanks Don, we'll do our best not to feel that way. For those of us who aren't as blessed with natural intellect as you, are there any tips you could give us on how to tackle exams?

A: I just start writing them. Just write. I don't even wait for reading time to end. And when you're a star, they let you do it. You can do anything. Grab 'em by the pen and start writing.

Q: That's all very well, but what if you hit a mental wall and can't write anything?

A: Did you say wall? I will build a great wall – and nobody builds walls better than me, believe me – and I'll build them very inexpensively. I will build a great, great wall in your head, and I will make you pay for that wall. Mark my words.

Q: Ok... With all that wonderful advice, what do you think Ben's chances of maintaining his HD average are?

A: He doesn't have the look. He doesn't have the stamina. I said he doesn't have the stamina. And... I don't believe he does have the stamina. To maintain a HD average, you need tremendous stamina.

NB: all of Trump's comments above are either verbatim or have had one or two key words replaced; get on google to find out the more sinister versions if you need to.

P.S. Sorry to all the Trump supporters I have offended with this article. I wouldn't have published it if I'd known that you can read.

ACTUAL ELECTION COVERAGE

If you want some more substantial commentary on the election, go to see the Chaser's Charles Firth speak at Manning Clarke T3 on Tuesday 8th of November at 6pm. Charles is currently the executive producer of The Roast on the Comedy Channel so I can assure you his banter will be top notch.
