SEMINAR

Domestic violence support training

In conjunction with the Domestic Violence Crisis Service (DVCS), the ANU Women's Department will be running domestic violence training sessions again this semester. These sessions are open to all ANU staff and students who are interested. Each sessions runs for 3 hours. The ANU Women's Department have worked with DVCS to tailor the training to address some of the issues and complexities that may arise in the university content. We hope to broaden community understandings of domestic and intimate partner violence, and provide participants with an awareness of the services which are available to provide assistance and support to people in relationships where violent behaviours are present. This will include culturally and linguistically diverse services.

Date: 9AM Wednesday, 12 March

Venue: Spark Helmore lecture theatre

ANU FILM GROUP

Digital projector at ANU Film Group

ANU Film Group proudly announced that we have just acquired a brand new, state-of-the-art digital projector!

For the past 48 years, we have been screening exclusively from 35mm and 16mm film. But the changing nature of film production, distribution and exhibition globally has meant that, as of 2014, new release films are now being released almost entirely on the digital cinema format. In anticipation of this, we have been working on acquiring digital technology for a number of years, and our new projector is a welcome and long-awaited addition to the Coombs Theatre that we intend to use alongside our trusty 35mm projectors going forward.

Our digital projector will allow us to remain at the forefront of cinema technology and to continue screening the diverse and varied films that our members love for many, many more years to come.

Screening tonight (Sat 8 March) at 7pm at Coombs: Anchorman 2!
