BRUCE HALL BALL

THE annual Bruce Hall Ball is almost upon us! Tickets are on sale this week for what is most assuredly one of the best nights of the year.

Let it be known that dressing up in normal clothes and claiming to be sloth is not a good costume, so if you're still without sinful attire it's time to get on to it!

The Ball is on this Friday night, the 31st of July. If you have any questions, direct them to Kat Throssell or Dan Masciantonio. See you there!

INTERHALL SPORT

TERM 3 is underway and with it comes a selection of new sports for Bruce to show off its dominance! Soccer, AFL and Netball are all running throughout the term. Badminton is a carnival sport running over the 4th weekend of term. Stay tuned for training and match times.

Congratulations to both soccer teams for their wins over Ursies, keep it up!

Scores: Women's soccer d. Ursies 4-1
 Men's soccer d. Ursies 2-0

SCHMIDT SELECTED AS NEW ANU VC

FOR those who don't browse Stalkerspace or have otherwise been living under a rock, the ANU has selected a new Vice-Chancellor to take over from Ian Young – Nobel laureate professor Brian Schmidt.

Whilst it is very easy to see this change as a (welcome) departure from the controversial leadership of Young, I urge readers to remain critical – a good academic does not necessarily make a good leader.

Nevertheless, Schmidt's appointment from an active researcher to the VC of a university is certainly unusual, and will perhaps bring about a breath of fresh air in university policy.

PUBLIC LECTURE: REGULATING DOPING AND SEX IN SPORT

FEW sports' spectators realize that a global regulatory network is in place in an attempt to ensure ideals of fair play. But the athletes caught and punished for doping are not always the ones using performance-enhancing drugs to cheat.

Henne makes the case for rethinking the power of regulation in sports and how it separates athletes into a distinct class of citizens subject to a unique set of rules because of their physical attributes and abilities.
